

View your attendance

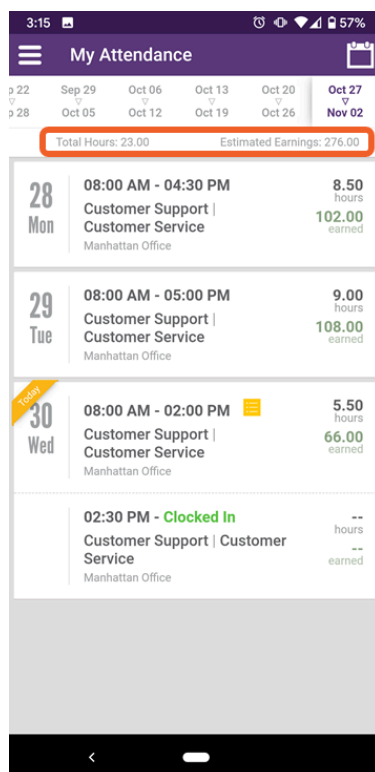

The TimeForge Mobile App allows you to view your attendance for the current day, as well as previous attendance (timecard) entries.

Select My Attendance from the side menu

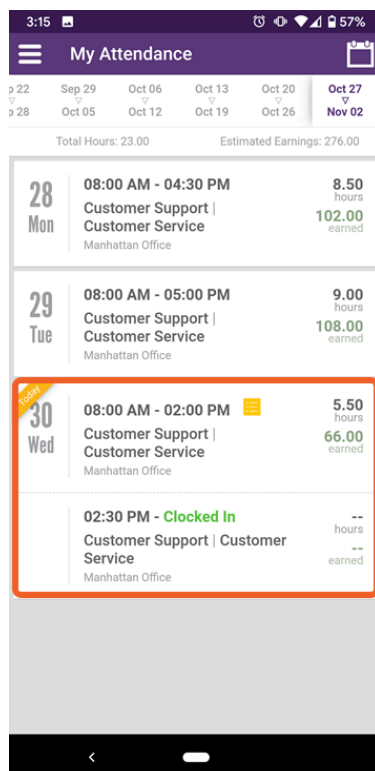

View your weekly and daily attendance

By default, the page will open to the current week. Just below the date selector, you'll see your total hours and estimated earnings for the week:

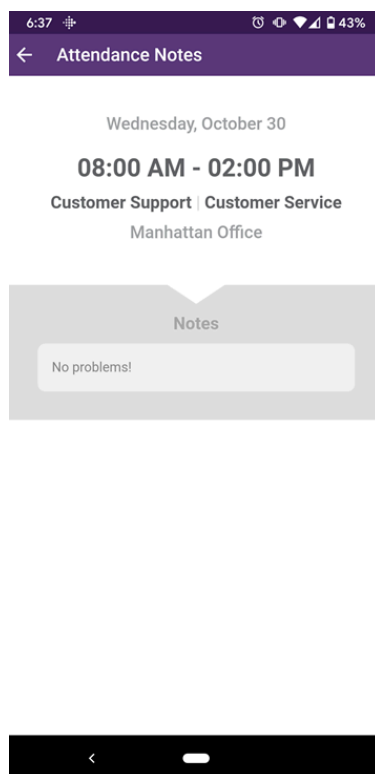

You'll also see a daily breakdown of hours and dollars earned according to your attendance.

The current date will be highlighted with a "Today" ribbon in the upper left. If you have left any shift notes, the entry will also be marked by a list icon. The app will also let you know if you're clocked in:

Tap a shift to view any notes

Swipe to view previous attendance

To view previous attendance, swipe the date selector:

